Diversity and civic integration through housing Policy

'If social integration and inclusion in the host society is the end goal, cohabitation is the vehicle to get there, the volunteer buddy is the copilot and circular integrated support services provide the fuel to finish the road.'

A total of 75 cohousing units were set up through purchase, renovation and private renting. In these units about 120 unaccompanied young refugees cohabited with Flemish buddies for at least 1 year. The buddy helps the refugee on different daily challenges, such as looking for a job, building a network, learning Dutch.

How did the housing system combined with the buddy method influenced integration?

U-RLP

Living, learning and working together

'If enabling an inclusive approach to facilitate the integration of asylum-seekers from day one is the aim of the project, the solution is to build an innovative reception facility to establish and develop social networks with neighbours, encouraging them and newcomers to attend training courses in English language about entrepreneurship and international business .

In the Overvecht district of the city, asylum seekers and refugees lived together with young local people, while residents from the neighbourhood were invited to take courses together and engage in social activities in a shared social space. With courses in English and entrepreneurship, asylum seekers and local residents work on their professional future,

How did the co-living combined with the co-learning influenced integration?

UTRECHT

- Population: 344,384
- Area: 99.32 km²

SALUS

"When a city welcomes, it grows in culture, richness and humanity."

The overall objective of the three year project is to build a center for hospitality and work as well as intercultural welfare and wellness. Or in broader terms: Salus Space.

Evaluation procedures are used during the whole process and are shared with all the partners, citizens included.

The project is accompanied by a strong communication campaign that involves both partners and citizens, with the aim to set up an Editorial Board.

The purpose of Salus Space is to create and define an innovative and replicable model of reception and integration for refugees, to be used also in other European contexts.

Faster and more needs-oriented integration of refugees

CoRE is an empowerment fabric jointly planned, utilized and operated by public institutions, NGOs, civil society initiatives and refugees, a physical infrastructure in the form of a CoRE building, which will be adapted to the needs of the project, and a think tank, which monitors, analyses, and innovates policies and develops and tests new solutions. These three aspects convey into the main aim of providing refugees with integrated support to facilitate their integration in the city of Vienna.

The identified objectives to reach the main aim are to secure integration from day 1, to involve and empower refugees, to give basis to a stronger integration system, to define more user-oriented services and to counteract stereotypes and prejudices.

THEORY OF CHANGE

The newcomer

- refugees' preparation for the labour market starts already during the asylum procedure
- the whole integration system will be strengthened and made fit for new challenges
- it will be possible to reach a diverse target audience (in terms of gender/social background/nationality etc)
- service provision will be more relevant and functional by adopting a bottom-up rather than top down method

The society

- perception of integration of refugees as successful and as a source of prosperity of the city
- a more positive public discussions about integration will be reached
- diversity is perceived as a success

STEPS

- 1 Developing a competence database in a cross institutional structure
- 2 Selection and training of the core group of refugee peers
- 3 Implementation of the health promoting programme
- 4 Conducting a first fact finding missions in other European countries
- 5 Providing a minimum of 200 refugees with accommodation through the Housing First Platform
