

Outcome of the IHI JU Science and Innovation Panel on ideas submitted for potential IHI topics

Reference number of the idea: N° TI_001160

Defining the temporal responsiveness of the gut microbiome to major diet and lifestyle interventions

Overall opinion

The idea is interesting, but the topic is complex in terms of science with many confounders and parameters, so that a large-scale approach is needed (3000 persons would not even be enough due to variability). Moreover, the idea is not focused, does not include clear elements of innovation and how it differentiates from previous projects. At this stage, and in the current form of the submitted idea, the opinion would not be favorable.