

JOURNAL OF THE SENATE

Sixty-Seventh Session

First Day

St. Paul, Tuesday, January 5, 1971

This being the day designated by the Constitution and Laws of the State of Minnesota for the assembling of the Legislature, the members-elect of the Senate met in the Senate Chamber of the Capitol and were called to order at 12 o'clock noon by Rudolph G. Perpich, President of the Senate.

Prayer was offered by Reverend John O'Neill.

Oscar Knutson entered the chamber and began to administer the oath.

Prior to administration of the oath, Mr. Coleman raised a privileged point of order, requesting that the President direct that the oath not be administered to Mr. Palmer or Mr. Overgaard, pending the determination by the Senate of their respective election contests.

The President then appointed Mr. Gearty Secretary Pro Tem.

After discussion, the President ruled, with respect to Mr. Palmer, that he not be administered the oath, nor be seated, pending determination of his election contest by the Senate. In the case of Mr. Overgaard, the President ruled that Mr. Overgaard be administered the oath, and be permitted to take his seat.

Mr. Holmquist appealed the ruling of the Chair, as it related to Mr. Palmer.
