

How to apply

Please note this is an expression of interest, applications will be considered and we will be in contact to let you know if you have been successful.

To apply, send us:

- Submission form
- A 2-3 minute video

Alumni Live takes place on the 1 March 2023. Before applying please check that you are available and save the date in your diaries. We cannot wait to welcome you then.

We know that you are a community of solvers, coming together in unexpected ways to build trust and deliver sustained outcomes. And that's why, we're inviting our alumni to share your stories and speak at our upcoming PwC UK Alumni Live event.

To register, you should fill out and submit the below form and send us a short video.

The form includes a brief 100-200 word written summary of your ideas and what will be covered in your talk, on the topic of 'Community of solvers in action: How you have combined human ingenuity with the right technology to deliver the right results and sustained outcomes.'

Authenticity requirements:

Thoughts and ideas must be your own.

We then ask that you submit a short two to three minute video relating to your talk, via WhatsApp to our alumni team on +44 (0)7711 562099. If you have any questions, or require any further information relating to your application, please contact Emma Charlesworth.

When thinking about the topic for submission, we encourage you to consider how combining human ingenuity and understanding with the right technology can deliver real results.

Please read the below 'PwC UK Alumni Live Talks Criteria' and 'Guidelines on how to give an Alumni Live talk' documents carefully before submitting your application.

Please send your submissions by 6 January 2023 as an expression of interest to speak at PwC UK Alumni Live 2022, taking place on 1 March 2023
