SUMMARY

I am experienced iOS developer with over 4 years of experience in designing and building iOS applications and more then 10 years of experience in software development in general. Enthusiastic about programming and developing high-quality products for the end-users.

I've got solid experience in different aspects - from simple REST clients to geolocation and AR.

Developed and released more than 15 applications for iOS platform that offer the best possible experience for the end-user. I successfully executed multiple numbers of the updates to existing applications for a variety of startups and mid-size companies.

I'm constantly learning and applying new technologies and trying to improve myself not to get behind in this rapidly changing industry.
