ABOUT SALTO

...'Support and Advanced Learning and Training Opportunities within the Erasmus+: Youth in Action and European Solidarity Corps programmes'. The European Commission has created a network of seven SALTO-YOUTH Resource Centres to enhance the implementation of the EU Erasmus+: Youth in Action and European Solidarity Corps programmes, which provide young people with valuable non-formal learning experiences.

SALTO's aim is to support the implementation of the European Erasmus+: Youth in Action and European Solidarity Corps Programmes with regard to priorities such as Social Inclusion, Diversity, Participation, and Solidarity. SALTO also supports co-operation with regions such as EuroMed, South-East Europe, or Eastern Europe and The Caucasus and coordinates all training and co-operation activities, as well as information tools for National Agencies.

In these European priority areas, SALTO-YOUTH provides resources, information, and training for National Agencies and European youth workers. Most of these resources are offered and disseminated at www.SALTO-YOUTH.net. Find online the European Training Calendar, the Toolbox for Training and Youth Work, the database of youth field trainers active at the European level (Trainers Online for Youth or TOY), links to online resources, and much more.

SALTO-YOUTH actively co-operates with other actors in the European youth field, among them the National Agencies of the Erasmus+ and European Solidarity Corps programmes, the Council of Europe, the European Youth Forum, European youth workers and trainers, and training organisers.

THE SALTO-YOUTH INCLUSION AND DIVERSITY RESOURCE CENTRE WWW.SALTO-YOUTH.NET/INCLUSION/

The SALTO-YOUTH Inclusion and Diversity Resource Centre (based in Belgium Flanders) works together with the European Commission to support the inclusion of young people with fewer opportunities in the Erasmus+: Youth in Action and European Solidarity Corps programmes. Through that, it works to contribute to social cohesion in society at large. SALTO Inclusion and Diversity also supports the National Agencies and youth workers in their inclusion work by providing training, developing youth work methods, disseminating information via the newsletter, etc. By offering opportunities for training, exchange, and reflection on inclusion practice and diversity management, SALTO Inclusion & Diversity works towards the visibility, accessibility, and transparency of its inclusion & diversity work and resources, and towards making 'inclusion of young people with fewer opportunities' and 'positive diversity management' a widely supported priority.

Event Dates:

- 11 September (13h CET) > ID Talks Inclusive Partnerships (and project initiation) The beauty of international youth projects is that we can learn from and with other organisations about inclusion and diversity. And finding the right partners is important to organise quality projects: partnerships that are build around common values and that help us achieve our inclusion goals. How and where do we find partner organisations and build strong partnerships? What is the key to successful project initiation? This ID Talk brings you first-hand experience and practical tips on how to give your inclusive international youth projects a quality start. Guest speaker: Morgaine Green, Otra Escuela, Spain
- 25 September (13h CET) > ID Talks Inclusive Preparation (of participants and teams) Inclusion is a process that takes time and thought. In every activity, you can learn something new with and from the experts, team and participants involved. Though there is no one uniform model for all-inclusive and diversity-sensitive projects, one thing is uncompromisable: proper preparation of everyone involved in the project, from participants to experts, teams and local community. How to maintain inclusion as a core value when preparing our participants and teams? What can help us translate our values into practice? In this ID Talk, we will equip you with knowledge and tools to support participants and team members in developing their inclusion skills and working together for inclusive international youth projects. Guest speaker: Abderrahman Assorhani, Föreningen Framtidståget, Sweden
- 9 October (13h CET) > ID Talks Inclusive Administration (from budget to logistics)

   When we plan an international youth experience in an inclusive and diversity-sensitive manner, we are sometimes worried that this could mean extra costs, administrative burden and impossible logistics requirements. So what special funding exists to support inclusive Erasmus+ youth and European Solidarity Corps projects? And what are the rules to follow? Have you considered making your projects more inclusive, but are you worried about the financial implications, managing logistics and bureaucracy? Do you want to make the best use of the available inclusion support? This ID Talk explores project administration through procedures and real-life examples. Guest speakers: Elzbieta Kosek, Kreisau-Initiative & Hanna Schuessler, JEUGEND fur Europa, Germany

Event Dates:

- 23 October (13h CET) > ID Talks Inclusive Learning (and programme design) Getting in contact with other people and sharing experiences is a powerful way of learning. However, for this learning to happen, we need to plan it conscientiously. When organising inclusive international youth experiences, we should we create the space and give tools for young people and team members to develop knowledge, skills and attitudes. But we also need to support them to identify the learning and change they went through. How can we make sure that all participants of youth project have meaningful learning experiences? This ID Talk focuses on different ways to approach learning in inclusive international youth projects. Guest speaker: Aleksa Savic, Grupa Izadji, Serbia
- 6 November (13h CET) > ID Talks Inclusive Programmes (for youth from the European Union) To conclude the autumn 2024 series of ID Talks, let's connect the dots and draw some conclusions. How inclusive are the Erasmus+ youth programme & the European Solidarity Corps? How well have we been doing since the launch of the ID Strategy and throughout the current cycle of the EU youth programmes? This ID Talk identifies the programmes' strengths and weaknesses, and shares important ID lessons learnt for the future European youth programmes beyond 2027. It is based on the SALTO ID interim evaluation of the inclusiveness of the Erasmus+ youth programme and European Solidarity Corps and the contribution of the Inclusion and Diversity Strategy in enhancing inclusion in the youth field, in the period 2021-2023 (January 2024 Making EU youth programmes more inclusive research report.pdf). Guest speaker: Gisele Evrard, Belgium

Article

Abderrahman Assorhani

Inclusion and preparation for young people with fewer opportunities are essential to fostering their growth and participation in projects and mobilities. By offering capacity knowledge support, skills training, and personal guidance, Föreningen Framtidståget ensures these individuals feel empowered and ready to contribute meaningfully. The organization focuses on creating a welcoming environment, encouraging long-term engagement, and helping young people develop confidence and independence. This not only strengthens their personal and professional growth but also enables them to become active, valued members of the project team and their local communities.

In this article, we explore the creative ways in which the Swedish organization Framtidståget works closely with young people, particularly those facing social or economic challenges, to empower and integrate them into local and international projects. Framtidståget goes beyond involving these young individuals—it fosters their growth, encourages their talents, and provides them with the skills and confidence needed to take on leadership roles within the organization's project management team.

To fully understand the success of Framtidståget's methods, it is essential to understand the organization's foundational identity, which has been shaped over 2 decades of experience. Combining academic, and psycho-social insights with hands-on practice, Framtidståget has developed a unique and inclusive approach to engaging young people, especially those who feel the most discriminated. Through coherent mentorship, skill-building workshops, and a focus on collaboration, the organization has built an international community of former participants, many of whom now work as mentors and project leaders themselves with Framtidståget.

Framtidståget's model demonstrates the power of inclusion, showing that with the right support, young people from all backgrounds can thrive, contribute, and lead.

TOOLS

- > WORKING IN PERSON
- > EFFECTIVE COMMUNICATION
- > DIGITAL TOOLS
- > ONGOING EMPOWERMENT

Empowering Futures: The Journey of Föreningen Framtidståget

For over 27 years, Föreningen Framtidståget (Future Train Association), founded Yousef Yebari in Sweden, back then a newly arrived Moroccan migrant trying to integrate into the Swedish society and job market, has been a space of hope and transformation. Based in the innovative Scandinavian capital of Stockholm, this diverse organization has dedicated itself to social work, collaborating closely with regional social services to address the needs of families, children, and communities. With three main areas of focus —family treatment, foster care, and a wide range of local and international projects— Framtidståget continues to inspire positive change and foster inclusion and diversity among those it works with.

Supporting Families and Children

At the heart of Framtidståget's work are its two primary departments. First, the Family Treatment Department offers essential support and guidance to families who have experienced domestic abuse, helping them rebuild their lives. Second, the Foster Care Department provides a welcoming space for children, both in short and long-term placements, acting as a crucial mediator between social services and host families. These departments are the foundation of the organization's mission to create safe and supportive environments for vulnerable individuals.

Empowering Communities through Practical Skills

n addition to its family services, Framtidståget has a strong focus on local community integration. Its local projects are designed to newly arrived migrants, asylum seekers, and young people facing social and economic challenges. Through a variety of practical workshops, participants gain valuable skills in areas such as mobile phone repair, barbering, hairdressing, web development, emotional support, etc. By offering these hands-on trainings, Framtidståget ensures that participants are equipped with not only practical skills but also the confidence and independence to thrive in their new environment and integrate into the Swedish society and job market.

The organization has welcomed individuals from diverse regions, including Asia, Eastern Europe, the Middle East, Africa, and South America, enriching Sweden's multicultural society while fostering solidarity and understanding across different backgrounds.

Framtidståget: A Celebration of Diversity and Unity

Framtidståget is more than just a workplace—it is a community where diverse cultures, traditions, and beliefs come together in a spirit of inclusion and mutual respect. One of the ways this is experienced is through its Ramadan Friday Iftar organized for Muslim staff and memebrs and shared with their non-Muslim colleagues. These events offer everyone the opportunity to experience the spiritual significance of Ramadan, fostering understanding and connection across faiths. Similarly, the organization hosts Christmas celebrations, creating an environment where all staff, regardless of background, can share in the joy of this festive season by decorating the office and sharing a Christmas lunch table all together.

Beyond religious ceremonies, Framtidståget has also become a crucial support platform for the Ukrainian refugee community in Stockholm. Over the past two years, since the beginning of the war in Ukraine, the organization has hosted more than 20 workshops, offering practical and emotional support to over 2,000 Ukrainian beneficiaries. For many, Framtidståget has become a second home—a place where they can rebuild, connect, and thrive during challenging times. The project was called Future Meeting Point, and it has ultimately been coordinated and managed by former students from the same project workshops.

By creating spaces for cultural exchange and solidarity, Framtidståget demonstrates the power of community, making it a social and cultural hub of unity for people from all walks of life.

Global Reach: International Partnerships and Projects

Since 2007, Framtidståget has expanded its impact through international collaboration, starting with creating its branch organization in Larache, Morocco. With funding from programs such as Erasmus+, the European Solidarity Corps, and other programs and institutions, the organization has led over 200 projects across 30 countries, impacting thousands of young people, women, and disadvantaged communities. These projects address common global challenges, from education to social inclusion, and Framtidståget's diverse team based in Sweden, speaking over 16 languages and believing in multiple faiths, ensures a truly inclusive approach to social change and sustainable development.

At the heart of Framtidståget's success lies a clear commitment to its core values, vision, and mission—empowering young people to become agents of change and inspiration for their peers. The organization's inclusive approach to youth engagement is deeply rooted in practical, hands-on experiences. These methods are creatively designed to ensure that young participants are not only prepared to contribute but also fully take part in the process of creating positive change.

By fostering an environment where every individual feels valued and supported, Framtidståget equips young people with the skills and confidence needed to lead. Their practical approach transforms participants into empowered individuals who inspire others to follow in their footsteps, driving both personal growth and sustainable social impact. Here are some hands-on activities and practices that Framtidståget conducts to reach that.

1- Empowering Youth Potential

A core aspect of Framtidståget's mission is to empower young people, particularly those from marginalized backgrounds and with fewer opportunities compared to their peers in different social and economical classes. The organization runs between 8 to 10 youth mobility projects annually, creating opportunities for young people with fewer opportunities (YPFO) to travel, learn, and connect with peers across Europe and MENA region. Through these programs, participants are not only supported in their personal and professional growth but also encouraged to remain engaged with Framtidståget long after their initial involvement.

Framtidståget's commitment to inclusivity is evident in its approach to preparing participants. Before each project, young people are invited to the Stockholm office for personal meetings, fostering a sense of belonging and ownership. The organization's team, many of whom come from backgrounds in social work and therapy, ensures that every individual feels empowered, valued, and ready to contribute.

COME, AS YOU ARE...

WE INVITE YOUTH TO COME TO A PROJECT WITH A PERSON THAT THEY TRUST A FRIEND, SIBLING, SOCIAL/YOUTH WORKER...

2- A Process of Learning and Leadership

Framtidståget's comprehensive project cycle is designed to ensure that participants are fully engaged and supported throughout their journey. From planning and implementation to dissemination and reporting, each phase provides opportunities for young people to learn, grow, and reflect on their experiences. Clear checklists, task assignments, and a supportive network of mentors and project coordinators guide participants through every step, ensuring their involvement is both meaningful and rewarding to their learning process.

The organization's recent Erasmus+ accreditation 2021-2027 has enhanced its operational efficiency, allowing for greater flexibility in project topics, long-term partnerships, and a stronger focus on young people with fewer opportunities. This new framework encourages innovation and creativity and ensures that Framtidståget's projects address current local and international needs.

3- Building Lifelong Connections

At Framtidståget, the focus extends beyond the completion of a single mobility project. The organization prioritizes long-term engagement, inviting former participants to stay connected, share their experiences, and even lead new projects. By fostering this sense of community, Framtidståget helps young people become ambassadors for social change, encouraging others from fewer opportunities and similar challenges to get involved and contribute.

Notably, many of Framtidståget's current project managers began their journey as participants. For example, two former European Solidarity Corps volunteers—Abderrahman Assorhani from Morocco and Sebastian Sjöström from Sweden—are now responsible for leading the organization's international and local projects, showcasing the transformative power of these programs.

4- Celebrating Diversity, Encouraging Potential

One of Framtidståget's key learnings is the importance of language and identity in empowering young people. While the term "fewer opportunities" is commonly used in EU Commission programmes, the organization has adopted a more empowering term: "Young People with Full Potential (YPFP)". This shift reflects Framtidståget's belief in the authentic abilities and strengths of the young people they work with, encouraging them to embrace their unique skills and overcome challenges with confidence.

By providing platforms for creativity, collaboration, and leadership, Framtidståget helps young people develop the tools they need to succeed. The organization's commitment to psychosocial support ensures that participants feel safe and supported throughout their journey, enabling them to fully engage in the process and realize their potential.

5- A Global Impact

With a growing international network of partners, youth organizations, and project coordinators, Framtidståget has established itself as a leader in youth development and social inclusion, especially in Swedish and Moroccan communities. Beyond the borders of Sweden, the organization's projects have impacted numerous profiles, empowering communities and fostering intercultural understanding. By involving local communities in project activities—such as cultural dinners, storytelling sessions, and intercultural nights—Framtidståget creates positive and lasting interaction between participants and the local communities where projects are hosted, enriching the learning experience and outcome for all.

6- Lifting Others, Rising Together

Framtidståget leads by the belief "We rise by lifting others". Through its wide range of projects and programs, the organization has created a space where young people from diverse backgrounds can find their voice, unlock their potential, and contribute to a more inclusive world, starting from themselves. With over two decades of experience, Framtidståget continues to inspire positive change, one project, one individual, and one community at a time.

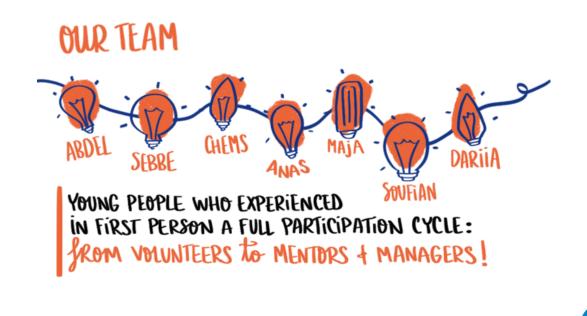

As the future awaits, Framtidståget (Future Train) remains committed to its mission of empowering young people, fostering inclusivity, and building an international network of changemakers who believe in the power of collective action. Together, we can create a brighter future for all.
